Andrew Weissmann and Leslie Caldwell

By Mary Jacoby | August 21, 2013 1:25 pm

HOUSTON, UNITED STATES: Federal prosecutor Andrew Weissmann (L) and Assistant US Attorney Leslie R. Caldwell (R) exit the federal courthouse in Houston, Texas, 10 June 2002. Jurors in the Arthur Andersen criminal trial went into a fifth day of deliberations Monday after the judge refused to give them a dictionary and an alternate juror indicated she would have voted for acquittal. Caldwell is directing the government's investigation of Enron. AFP PHOTO/JAMES NIELSEN (Photo credit should read JAMES NIELSEN/AFP/Getty Images)
